Paintings of the black plague

Diane is facing homemade projects since she and her husband bought their first home in 2007. Red brick fireplace before the black paint remaking. Photo by Diane McDaniel I'm slowly doing in our 1980 Cape Cod-Style house for almost 10 years. Our house has its beautiful Brazilian cherry wood floors, but their strong red votes have never played well with a red brick fireplace. If I had known how fast it was and quick to update the declaration piece of our stay, I would have addressed this project years ago! This is a great project for any level of ability. Honestly, choose the perfect shadow of black paint was the hardest part! Supplies will serve you need supplies UseStiff brushbrush brush brick brush brush and / or brush brush Foam and dirt from empty bricks for wet shop (optional) vacuum on loose dirt and sootPainter's tape turn off around the fireplace to protect the walls and the Floor Protect the floor area around the chimney of drops and sketches Paintbrush Apply primer and paint Masonry primer Apply after cleaning and before painting paint Apply 1â € ½ color coats of choice Step 1: Preparation and cleaning First , I started removing small brick debris with a wire brush. Then, I grabbed a small bucket and filled it with a bit of hot water and abrasive cleaner. Alternating between a rag and a brush, I burned the clean bricks of any soot, dirt and dust. I also used my wet / dryer vacuum to finish cleaning any dissolved dirt. Step 2: Touch and Priming to keep the lines of crispy paint and protect the floors and walls, I used the painter ribbon to cut out the surrounding brick edges. After the bricks were dry from scrubbing, I grabbed an old paint brush and gave the entire brick surface a layer of masonry primer. I used concrete Behr and Masonry Bonding Primer. The consistency of this particular primer is very close to water. The application is quite easy, but to protect my floors from any drops or splashes, I put a drop cloth around the chimney base. This also made cleaning a breeze! Put the painter ribbon around the fireplace to help keep the lines of clean and crispy paint. Photo by Diane McDanielstep 3: Painting When recommended four hours drying time for the primer had passed, I used a 2.5 "corner paint brush to apply the latex paint to the fireplace. Using a brush made it much easier Get every small brick slot and mortar completely covered. Only a coat of paint was needed, but I had to go back and touch some points I had lost. I removed all the painter's ribbon before the paint was completely dried. This helped to ensure that the paint edges did not peel with the ribbon. The latex paint I used is Sherwin Williams "Black Magic" in an opaque finish. Black brick fireplace with white oak cloak. Photo by Diane McDaniel Take is a stepside down the fireplace impact in black brick in my home is better than I dreamed. I like it like and neutral seems without having the maintenance of the brick white painting. Prior to painting the bricks, I was able to find it locally a white oak beam to be used as a coat. After cutting to the correct size, I stained with Varathane wood dyed in "natural" and sealed with three or four layers of polyurethane water base. By replacing the old mantle for the new white oak beam really elevated the function.I appearance continued the remaking further by painting all my stay in Sherwin Williams "Numbersome cover." The contrast of the white walls against the black brick makes the fireplace appearance! Replacement of the mantle and painting the entire living room added another couple of days for this renovation project. The update paint fireplace took only one day! FireboxIt penalty painting noting that I have no first or paint inside the fireplace. High heat spray paint is available at most shops for the house. If you want to paint inside the fireplace, I would recommend checking those high-heat paint products and following the instructions on the label project Longevity and UpkeepThis was completed in my house during the fall of 2020. After almost a year of moderate use of our fireplace wood, I had nothing to do with any touches or repairs to any part of the painted bricks. He has help on very well and has no had fading or chips in the paint. This same process of clean, first, and paint was used on multiple fireplaces in friend of and family homes with the same content results. This is accurate and truthful at the best of the authorâ s knowledge and is not intended to replace formal and individualized advice from a qualified professional. Over time, though, they can become dull and pitted by the lack of proper care. The Chrome emblems also have a bright appearance that may or may not be desirable. Paint a chrome emblem is relatively easy, but requires a slightly different approach to painting not chromed metal objects If you want the paint adheres properly and stay there for years. If possible, remove the emblem from whatever it is attached. If you can not remove the emblem, apply masking tape on the neighboring areas to protect them during the project. Sanding lâ hand emblem with 100 grit sandpaper. For a large emblem or area, use a dual action sander with the same grit sandpaper. Sanding lâ emblem until the chromium is completely opaque and flat, without reflections. To obtain a uniform finish, sanding in the same direction with the same force. Finish sanding with 220 grit sandpaper. Clean lâ emblem with mineral spirits and a clean towel, lint-free. Lâ Remove all oil and grease from handling dellâ emblem, as well as the dust from sanding the chrome. Paint lâ emblem with a urethane primer spray of high quality such as Krylon. Spray a light dusting on the surface dellâ emblem. Let the primer dry for a minute or so, and then sprayed on two or four heavy hands. For a smooth finish, wet-blasted lâ emblem between coats with 220-grit sandpaper and then 400-grit sandpaper. Allow the primer sufficiently before sanding Apply a couple of hands of sealant primer from a spray. Allow to dry the sealant, and then wet with 220- sandpaper and then 400-grit. Spray on the color chosen to paint lâ emblem, using the same method used for the primer. Apply two to four heavy hands and consistent and then end up with a wet sanding with 400 sandpaper grains. For an even more smooth finish, use the 1000-grit sandpaper and then 1,500-grit.
